Dear Randi:

As I reflect on your 2 days of presentation both to Mrs. Murvine's students and to mine, it is with great satisfaction that I share the positive feedback that we received from our students. We asked our students to reflect on memorable moments this semester in our classes and many reflected on your time with them. Comments that were made from our students were as followed: "I really learned a lot from our speaker about not being ready to be a parent until much later in life"; "Ms. Randi made me understand how expensive it is to have children and that I should have a good job first"; "I really enjoyed having our speaker give us time to think about how our decisions affects our goals and dreams"; "I appreciated the tools we were given to make good choices from our speaker."

So with those comments in mind, I would whole heartedly recommend any group to financially support your ESP organization. Your mission to reach adolescents before they parent our next generation is a mission that would reach 900 students alone here at Millbrook every year. I imagine, including other Wake County Schools, you would reach thousands of adolescents in the coming years that would impact our community to nothing but positive outcomes. Where will we be if we do not influence our young people to make positive choices and therefore to be a positive community member and family member? Thank you for your endeavors and I trust that you can use this letter as a means of gaining financial support for those who can take part in allowing you to continue your mission.

Sincerely,

Julee S. Dickens
